Authentic8 transforms how organizations secure and control the use of the web with Silo, its patented cloud browser.Silo creates a perfect isolation layer between users and the web, delivering a remote browser session that keeps web code from reaching the environment or end device. Silo also embeds security, identity, and data policies directly into the browser, giving IT complete control over the web, regardless of device, network, or user location. Government agencies and Fortune 5000 enterprises use Silo to strengthen and simplify their security architectures, give users secure web access, control sensitive data, apps, and workflows, and conduct critical web research.
